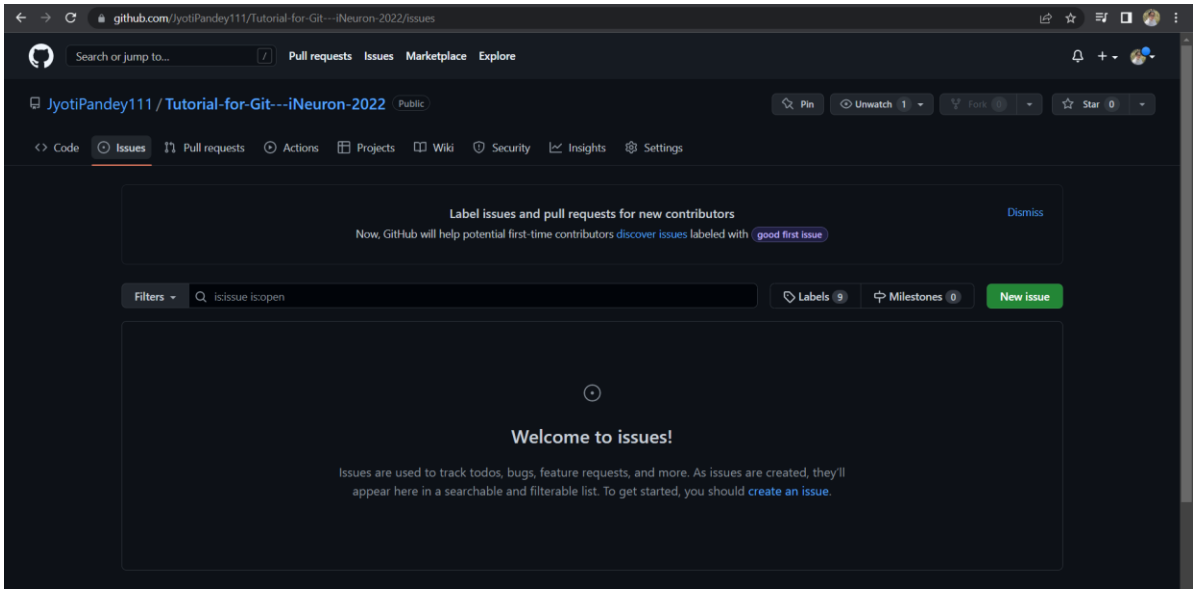
GitHub Issue

Create and Close an Issue in your GitHub Repository

GitHub: https://github.com/JyotiPandey111

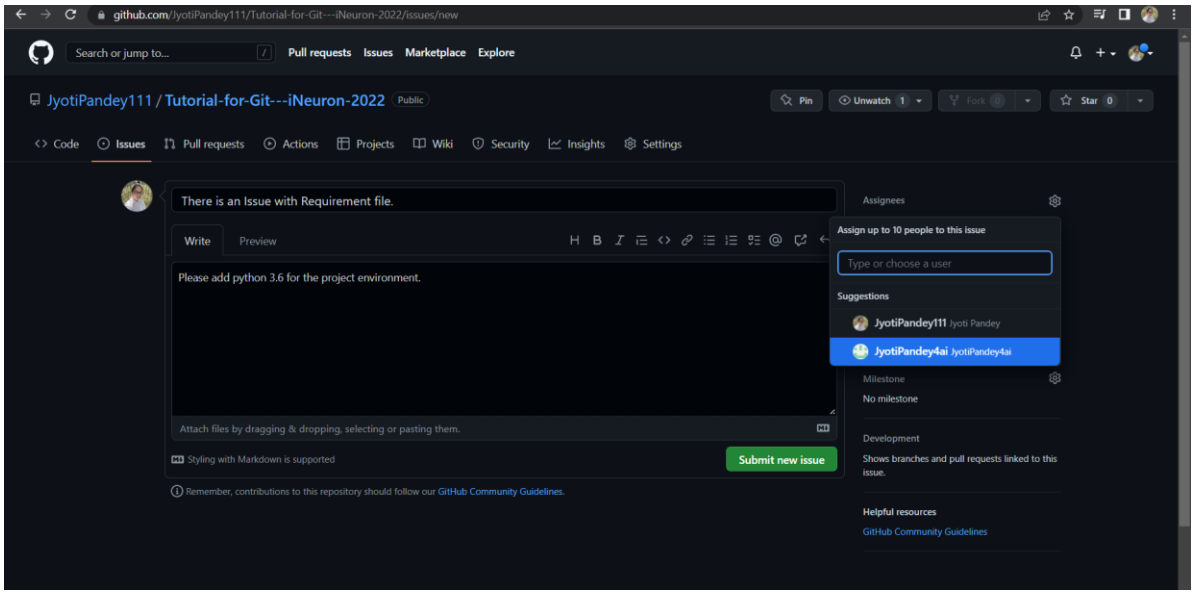
1. Go to the Issues panel of the Project. You get a layout for any project member to report any thing that is wrong or can be improved to the project. Click on New Issue.

Try It:



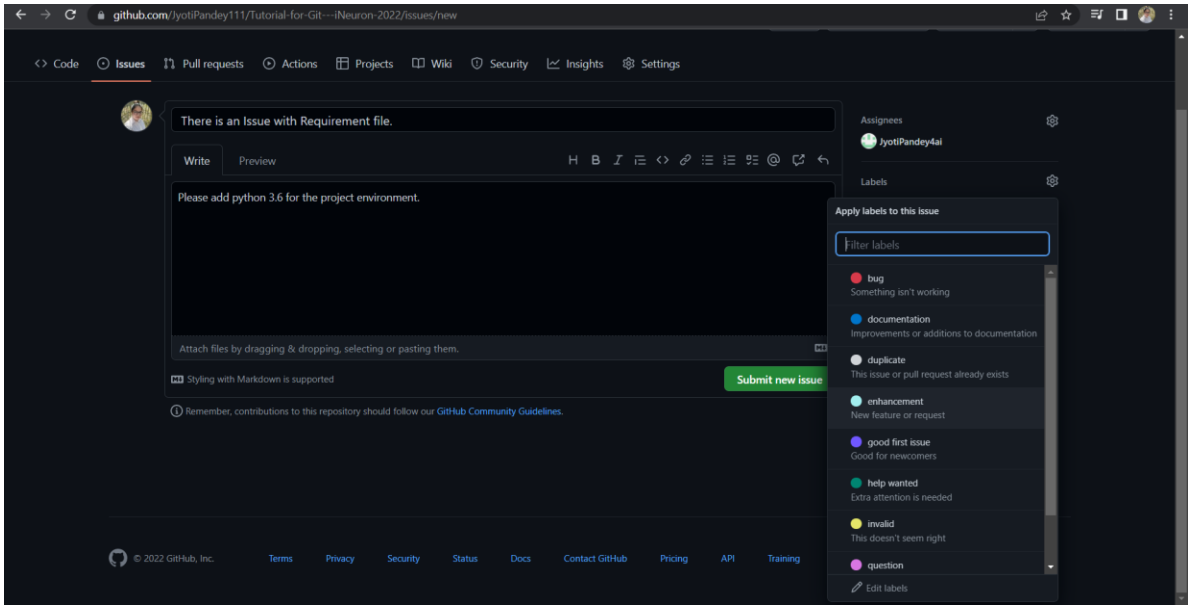
2. Enter the Title and relevant comment. You can use any document to validate it. You can use GitHub Markdown for layouts. Now Assign these issues by clicking on Assignees. Here we have two users in this project we will assign to the most relevant one who can solve this problem.

Try It:



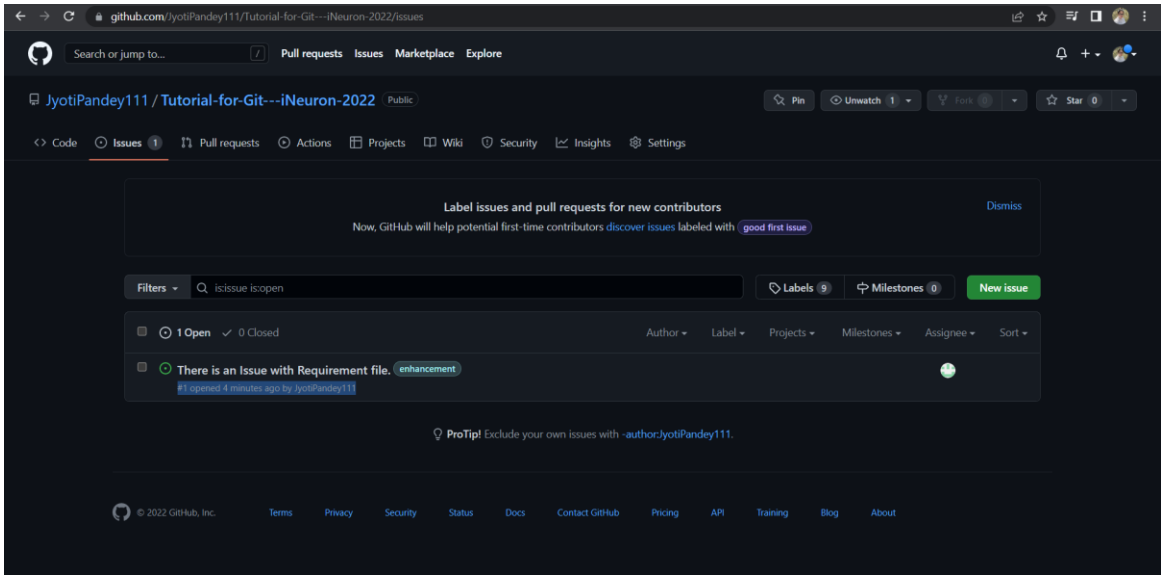
3. Here you also have Labels. This is classify different types of labels to the issue depending upon the importance of the issues. Click on Submit new Issue.

Try It:



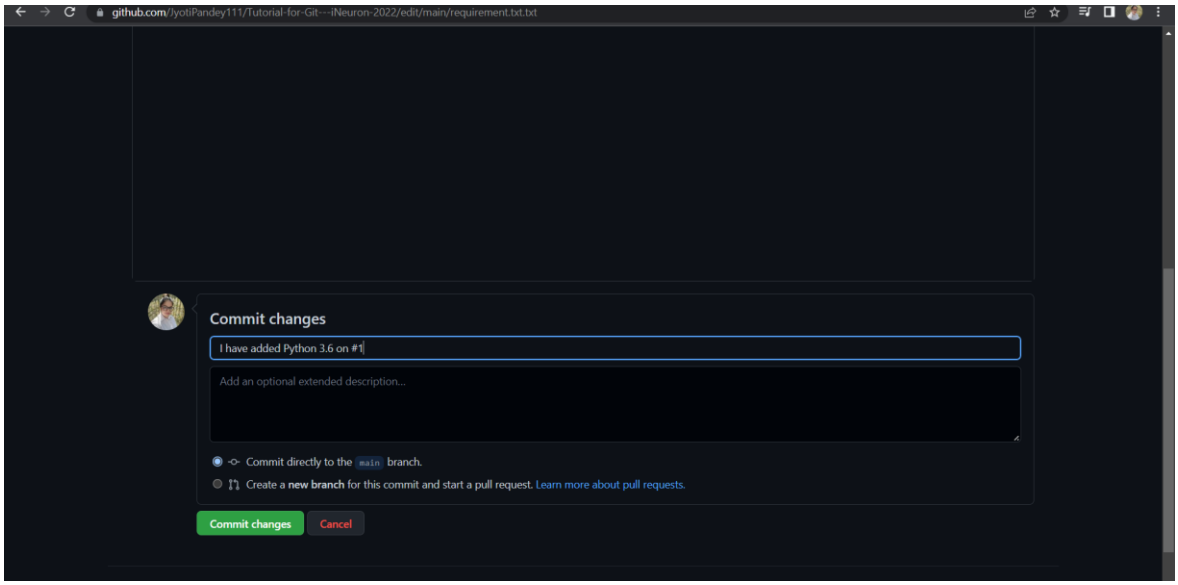
4. Solve the assigned issues and Use crosslinking feature of GitHub to mention the changes are committed with reference to the respected issue ID. In our case issue ID is #1.

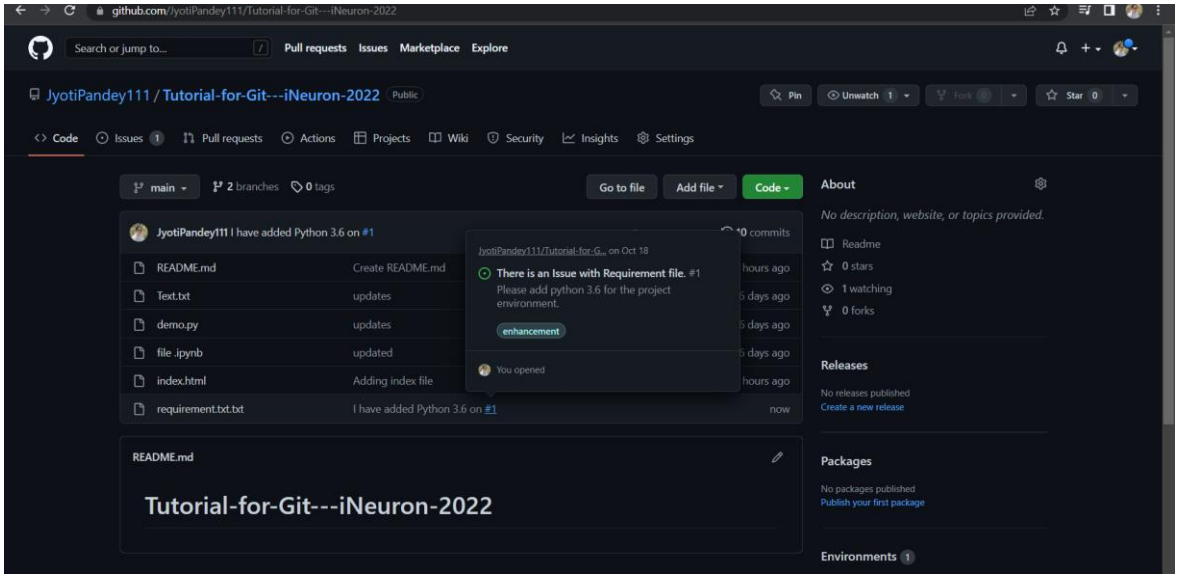
Try It:



5. While saving the correction, in commit changes section refer the Issue ID. If you click on ID you will be directed to the Issue.

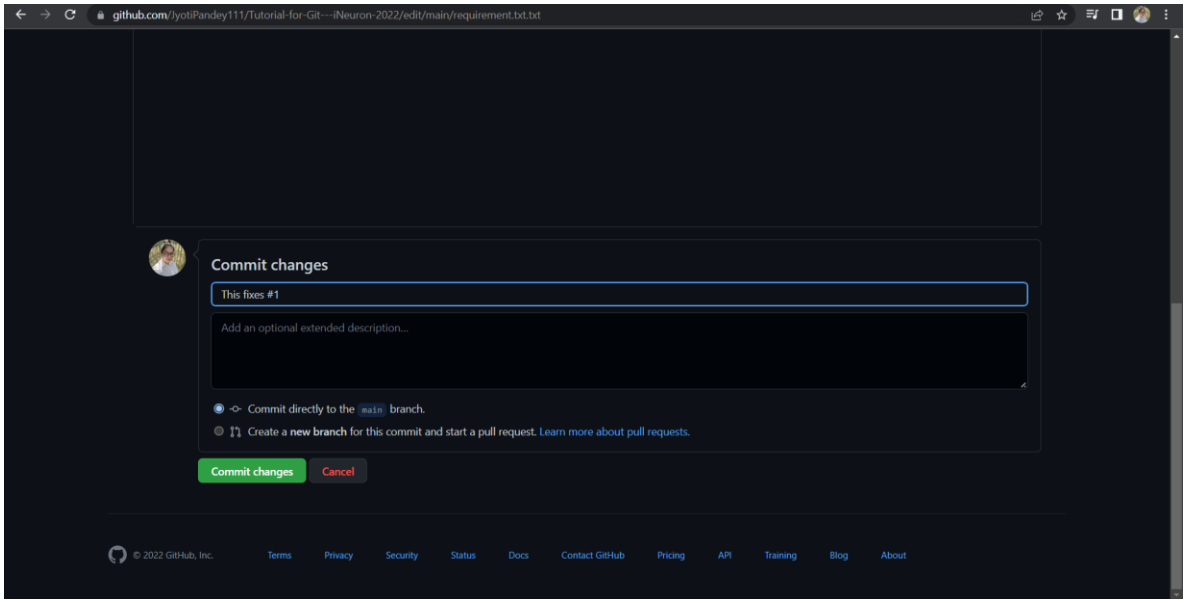
Try It:





6. You can also use keyword “fixes” to refer the issue.

Try It:



If you click on #1 you will find the issue is closed.
